STUDENT PRESENTATIONS

“Students in IPM: current research, techniques, and challenges across borders and disciplines”

When: March 15-18 2021
Where: Denver, CO

This symposium will showcase graduate student research in diverse aspects of IPM, both across disciplines and borders. Participating speakers have been invited from entomology, plant pathology, weed science and other fields to share their research with 10 minute lightning talks and a poster session. Attendees of this symposium will gain insight on how IPM is being implemented by innovative graduate students across disciplines and to be informed of IPM challenges occurring worldwide.
